Dear Clarence:

Many thanks for your kind letter of December 10, and the autographed copy of your book, "A Foreign Economic Policy for the United States."

All good luck to you and to your constructive program in the coming year.

With best wishes for the Christmas season,
I remain

Sincerely yours,

Allen W. Dulles

Dear Allen:

Mistakes occur in all organizations, including even possibly Central Intelligence, though on the record that seems unlikely.

My mistake is that I did not put you on the list of those to whom I wanted to send a copy of my book on foreign economic policy. But I discovered the error today, and the book has gone along to you. This brings my apology.

You are not expected to devote much time to it in the midst of your busy life, but I did want you to know that I have made this effort to present the President's program to the public. Actually the book is in the lecture tone--the Walgreen Foundation at the University of Chicago, for I thought it wise to choose that sort of forum.

Sincerely yours,

Clarence B. Randall
Special Consultant to the President

Mr. Dulles:

I believe you have seen the attached report as Mr. Randall sent you a copy of it, but in view of the President's memo covering the report, I thought you might wish to see this.
